

HELD UP FOR FIVE

BAGGAGE MAN AND TICKET AGENT
CROSS WITH CROOKS.

Two Tough Make a Vicious Demand for Five Cents—They Mutter Out Some Mutual History While Discussing Plans—Suggest to Mr. Sandifer That Maybe He'd Do Well to Abscond—They Go Up Water Street for Another Haul and While Patrolman Zimmerman Runs One In, the Other Runs Out.

Yesterday morning as Baggageman Sandifer sat alone in the ticket office of the Missouri Pacific depot writing, two tough looking crooks came up to the window and attempted to raise it. Then they went inside to the ticket window and called to Mr. Sandifer:

"Say, Buddie! How much money have you got in there?"

Mr. Sandifer got up quickly, closed the safe and threw the combination, as he said with apparent unconcern:

"Oh, not much."

"Well, Buddie, if I was you," said one of the men, "I'd abscond in about two minutes."

At this Mr. Sandifer walked out into the waiting room, when one of the men grabbed him by the arm and grunted:

"Say, one of our pals is gasping for breath, and would you buy my ring here to give us a lift?"

They were about half drunk, so Mr. Sandifer gave his nearest friend a punch and drove them off the platform. Presently Ira Sherwin, the ticket agent, coming toward the depot, met the two rascals near the Getto building and was held up for a nickel that they didn't get.

"Shoot him," said one of the men when Mr. Sherwin didn't cough up the five. Seeing that they were drunk, Mr. Sherwin stepped away from them and went on to his work. He and Mr. Sandifer exchanged experiences and decided to call up an officer. Before the officer came the tramps stood at some distance discussing plans.

"If we do that," one of them was heard to say, "we may get into the pen for ten years or so." Then, after some indistinct mumbling, "You needn't talk; you've got no edge on me. You are a pen bird yourself."

They walked off up Water street and divided into two gangs of one each and continued their depot tactics.

Patrolman Zimmerman followed up the street and arrested one of them just as he came out into the street from some residence. He saw the performance from the opposite side of the street and didn't stay.

"If he keeps up that run, he will get sapper in Oxford, Summer county," said Officer Zimmerman an hour afterward. The prisoner gave his name as James Young.

HAVE CAUGHT THEM

Officers Say They Have the Men Who Robbed Wilson.

G. R. Estelue, F. W. Fowler and Clinton Murrell were arrested Sunday morning at 4 o'clock by Officers Woods and Cairns on English street between Fourth and the Santa Fe railroad.

The officers claim to have positive evidence against these three men. They are believed to be the men who broke into Dr. Haxelton's drug store and burglarized A. Wilson's home on the West Side last Thursday night.

Mr. A. Wilson identified Fowler as the man who held him up and he said his voice sounded like the same as the man who spoke to him when he had him covered with a revolver. On the morning that Wilson was robbed Officer Cairns saw three suspicious looking fellows eating in Pull's restaurant. He came on up the street and sent Officer Carroll down to see if he knew them. He returned and said that he did not. But one of the officers recognized the three now in jail as the three who were eating the morning of the robbery. The officers have been shadowing these fellows ever since they have been here.

On Friday night the sample room at the Carey hotel was entered. It is on the ground floor and is accessible from the street. The burglars entered on Fourth avenue by opening the door with a skeleton key. When Mr. M. Sutton left on his last trip he left a telescope full of sample shoes. The thieves took all of the shoes, there being thirteen, and hid them behind a pile of lumber at the place where they were boarding. Then men are white, but they were living at a place conducted by two colored girls. All of the samples are for right foot. The back part of the leg of one of the boots was cut out and two of the men had pieces of leather in their pockets which exactly fit the boot, besides one of the strips was part of a trade mark, the other part being on the boot.

Murrell, when found, had a skeleton key on his person, which when tried on the door of the Carey sample room, and on Dr. Haxelton's drug store, unlocked the doors with ease. The officers have other evidence which they do not wish to disclose, but they are positive that they will be able to convict the men who have been doing the burglarizing of late.

They All Come Back

"There are fads in medicine as well as in other things," said a busy druggist, "but the most remarkable thing about Hood's Sarsaparilla is that customers who try other remedies all come back to Hood's, and this is why the enormous sales of this great medicine keep up the whole year round, steady as a clock."

"Why is it?" "O, simply because Hood's Sarsaparilla has more real curative merit than any medicine I ever sold."

This is of daily occurrence in almost every drug store. Hood's Sarsaparilla has cured most sickness, and made more happiness through restoration to health than any other medicine.

He drove up in front of the Zimmerman block about 10 o'clock and hitched both horses to a big stone which had an iron ring in it. He went up stairs and while he was gone the team became frightened and ran away. Mr. Gould says that the stone weighed by actual weight 250 pounds and that the team dragged the stone over one hundred feet by the bits before the straps broke. The team went north on Market street to Pine, thence east to Emporia where they went north, being caught at the packing house. The team did considerable damage to Dr. Oldham's buggy and to Mr. Creighton's carriage. There was another buggy which was hit by the passing team. Only one of Mr. Gould's horses was hurt.

WHAT THE MIDLAND IS BUILDING

Three-Store Roundhouse, Machine Shop and Office.

General Manager Holman of the Midland railroad and C. A. DeHaven, who has been made master mechanic, are making big improvements in the vicinity of the Midland yards.

They are putting in a three-story roundhouse, a machine shop, a car repair shop, and sand house, besides the depot and general offices. There are eleven engines in all owned by the Midland now used by the Frisco, and these will probably be stored here after July 1st. There will be a mixed train each way every day till the crops begin to move, after which the train will probably be a round trip passenger.

HEELS IN A PARABOLA

Two Boys on Bikes Collide in Griswold Park.

Two boys spinning in Griswold Park yesterday concluded to search against time in opposite directions on the same track.

When they had gone around and approached each other to pass they both took the outside, and seeing they would meet they both took to the inside. It was too late to turn again. There was a crash, a bang and two pairs of heels describing parabolas in the wind. Then there was a brief silence and a mangled procession to town. One of the wheels belonged to Earl Jewett and the other to Bob George.

HACKMAN RAN DOWN A TRAIN

Sam McNaughten Hired a Hack That Brought Him to the Station.

Sam McNaughten, the traveling show man, wanted to go out on the 7:30 Missouri Pacific yesterday to Hutchinson, but he was two minutes late when he got to the depot. The train had not yet crossed the bridge so McNaughten got into a hack and set chase. The train screamed along, throwing switches and stopping at crossings and the hack man cracked his whip and waved at the engine.

Just about three-quarters of a mile beyond the river the train officials saw the chase, the train slowed down and McNaughten climbed on. This is probably the first instance in history when a hackman caught a train a mile out of the station.

FIRST SUN STROKE

A. Belfel, the Trick Rider, is Overcome by the Heat.

Mr. A. Belfel, who is seen frequently on Main street and Douglas avenue riding his bicycle on one wheel, was overcome by the heat yesterday afternoon on North Main street. He was crossing the street and fell. He was unconscious and was taken to the Salvation Army barracks just north of First street. Medical aid was summoned and he was taken to his home on East Douglas avenue. Mr. Belfel conducts a shoe repairing shop on East Douglas avenue and is well known in cycling circles as a very clever trick rider. He recovered before being taken home and was resting easily last night. He was afflicted with a light touch of sun-stroke, the first that has been reported in this city this year.

Mr. C. C. Garvey arrived in the city Sunday evening from Chicago. Mr. Garvey will be married Wednesday morning to Miss Elizabeth Newcomb.

THEY ARE FRIENDS

HOW D. M. BROWN ONCE SAVED
PRESIDENT MCKINLEY.

In 1876 When Major William McKinley Was First a Candidate for Congress—Mr. Brown was a Delegate From Carroll County—Contest was so Close That Mr. Brown's Vote Decided the Contest—Mr. Brown Visited the President and Asked to be Appointed United States District Attorney.

There is some unwritten history concerning the appointment soon to be made by President McKinley of assistant United States district attorney for Kansas. Mr. D. M. Brown of this city formerly lived in Carroll county, Ohio. He was a delegate to the congressional convention which met in Alliance, Ohio, in 1875. At this convention for the first time Major Wm. McKinley's name was presented as a candidate. Mr. Brown's vote decided the fate of the man who now rules this great nation. Mr. Brown cast his vote for McKinley, and his was the one vote that was needed to nominate Major McKinley for congress.

That same year Mr. Brown was nominated by the Republicans of Carroll county for county attorney. He and the major canvassed the county and Mr. Brown introduced the major to the influential citizens of Carroll county. They both were elected to the offices to which they aspired. Some years later Mr. Brown removed to this city and Major McKinley was re-elected to congress, where he made a reputation that will carry his name down through the ages. It was the reputation that Major McKinley made for tariff reform that made Mr. McKinley president of the United States, and it was Mr. Brown's vote in 1875 that made it possible for Mr. McKinley to make the reputation that made him famous and president.

Shortly after the election in November Mr. Brown filed his application with the then president-elect for United States district attorney for Kansas. In December Mr. Brown visited the president at Canton, where he was cordially received and the old political battles were discussed. After Major McKinley had been inaugurated Mr. Brown went to Washington, where he told the president what his ambition was. The president told him that he would be glad to appoint him, but he would like him to get the endorsement of Senator Baker. Mr. Brown told him that he could not get Senator Baker's endorsement as he was already pledged to Ike Lambert, who had been instrumental in Mr. Baker being elected United States senator. The president then asked Mr. Brown if he would accept the office of assistant district attorney if nothing better turned up.

Mr. Brown said that he would. With this, after several pleasanties, the interview closed and Mr. Brown returned to Kansas.

While Major McKinley was in congress and when he was governor of Ohio, Mr. Brown was the recipient of many small favors at the hands of the major. They have always been the best of friends and two years ago, when Major McKinley made an address at Hutchinson, Mr. Brown went up and heard the major's speech and then called on him at his hotel. When at the hotel Major McKinley turned to Mr. Brown and said:

"I very well remember the favors you have conferred on me when we traveled over the hills of old Carroll county."

It seems to be the general impression among the local politicians that the appointments of both attorney and district United States attorney will be made before the first of July.

WOODSON METHOD MAY SPREAD

Gallant Mayor of Darlington is Called to Washington.

Major Woodson of Darlington was in the city yesterday on his way to Washington. He has received a summons from Secretary of the Interior Bliss.

It is the unofficial conjecture of people posted on Indian affairs that Major Woodson's visit to Washington may revolutionize the whole Indian agency system. It is well known that Major Woodson tendered his resignation to President McKinley upon his inauguration and the president refused to accept it. The authorities at Washington have been studying Major Woodson's processes for some time and it is highly probable that Secretary Bliss has resolved to make other agents adopt the Woodson method. This method in brief is to put the Indians to work with the understanding that they are to be rewarded if they work faithfully but if they are idle that they will be barred from all government aid.

WERE JUST LIKE WHITE FOLKS

Old Indians at Darlington Bow Their Heads in Prayer.

At Darlington last Sunday, eighteen Indian children joined the Congregational church there, which is presided over by Rev. Dr. Wellman. The Indians wanted to join the church and the reverend gentleman acceded to their requests. The old Indians attended the church in large numbers and took their seats some distance back, but when the prayer was given and the new converts bent their heads, so did the members of the tribe, and with great devotion and awe.

AS PICKNICKING GOES

Where the shadows chase each other, In the cool spots of the sky, And chiggers crawl upon you With all that hunger craves.

Bright reflection in the water, And the soft breeze from the Mosquitoes, everyone of them Thin as boarding-house pie.

Seeking solace in a picnic, And restfulness from care, You sit and fish and fumble And meditate and swear.

Wobbling home at nightfall, So tired you scarce can see; Clothes wet and clammy in Other places than the knee.

All you've got for memory— In hide all cooked and curled up, On your face and neck and nose.

MUSIC AND DRAMA.

Dr. Herbert L. Willett of Chicago university will arrive in the city this morning over the Santa Fe. His lecture on "The Golden Fleece" at the Central Christian church will be a rich treat for all who hear it. Dr. Willett has many warm friends in this city and they intend to give him a hearing this evening that will not be disappointing.

THE BIG TENT.

A large and appreciative audience was in attendance at the big tent last night. Miss Raymond and Mr. Kunkel were unable to reach her in time to appear, owing to a delayed train. They will positively appear during the balance of the engagement. Adult ladies and small boys will be admitted free tonight.

AMES.

What promises to be one of the best local productions seen here for years is the presentation of Oliver Byron's romantic drama, "The Plunger," by Sidney Toler and a cast of Wichita's best local talent. "The Plunger" has been seen here once before but in a pirated form which bears no resemblance to the original piece. Special scenery is to be used in this presentation showing the New York Elevated road at Eighty-first street with passing trains. Mr. Toler has spared no expense to make this presentation a feature as he has secured a set of calcium lights and a stereopticon, and descriptive illustrated songs will be given during the course of the evening. The play was one of Mr. Byron's great successes and enjoyed a long and healthy run in New York several years ago. It is to be produced in the same manner here as it was there. This event also records the reappearance of Judge Wm. Campbell to Wichita's amateur ranks. The piece is well equipped and everything points to a grand success.
